Embark on the theme of his art and Jaydie will become animated. For him, taking photographs is seeing, therefore he takes them.

Born in 1945 in America, he was brought up in New-York. Given his first camera at the age of five, he subsequently studied at Parson School of Design and at the New School and taught photography at universities in New-York and Paris.

With his wife Rosalynde, he moved in 1973 to France, where they have raised their family.

Jaydie's photographic output has covered a broad range of subject matter. In his professional portfolio you could find anything from Formula One editorial shots to magazine covers and advertising work.

His exhibitions span four continents; twelve published book feature his long-term projects, including a year with the New-York City Ballet, a twelve month study of life in Sri Lanka, and reportage of street games in New-York. He went on to create an in-depth observation of the working lives of two officers, leading to the book 'POLICE'.

The last two major projects are a true focus of Jaydie's passion for documenting those whose lives made a contribution to the grater good. 'TALENTS AND CONSCIENCES OF EUROPE' includes over one hundred individuals from Mother Teresa to Judge Giovanni Falcone, from King Juan Carlos 1st to Peter Ustinov. It resulted in the photographer's first multi-media publication, as a book, CD-ROM, website and exhibition.

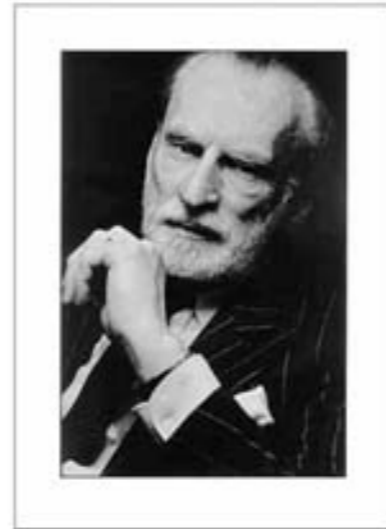

The current project portraits and documents all those have orbited the Earth, in their respective roles in sapce exploration. With the aid of UNESCO, the results will be distributed to a million educational Institutions. It is Jaydie's sincere belief that these space explorers will set an example as role models to the youth of today.

While he is an excellent and committed photographer, Jaydie is above all man concerned with things of positive.
"Photography is a passport that can take you wherever you dream to be. Once there, the goal is to find graphic solutions for visual problems that are devoid of all negative connotations."
